VEGETINE

FOR

Chills, Shakes, FEVER AND AGUE.

TARBORO, N. C., 1878.

DR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir—I feel very grateful for what your valuable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wonderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measles in 1873, which left him with Hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did not help him a particle, he could not lift his foot from the floor, he could not move without crutches. I read your advertisement in the Louisville Courier-Journal, that Vegetine was a great Blood Purifier and Blood Food. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all, and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or cane. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son fifteen years of age, who is subject to Chills. Whenever he feels one coming on, he comes in, takes a dose of Vegetine and that is the last of the Chill. Vegetine leaves no bad effect upon the system like most of the medicines recommended for Chills. I cheerfully recommend Vegetine for such complaints. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

Respectfully, MRS. J. W. LLOYD.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the Vegetine will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

VEGETINE

FOR

Dyspepsia, Nervousness, AND GENERAL DEBILITY.

BERNARDSTON, MASS., 1878.

We, the undersigned, having used Vegetine, take pleasure in recommending it to all those troubled with humors of any kind, dyspepsia, nervousness, or General Debility, it being the Great Blood Purifier. Sold by R. L. Crowell & Sons, who sell more of it than all other patent medicine put together.

MRS. L. F. PERKINS.
MRS. H. W. SCOTT.
JOSEPHUS SLATE.

VEGETINE is the great health restorer—composed exclusively of barks, roots, and herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it.

VEGETINE

NERVOUS HEADACHE

And Rheumatism.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9, 1877.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:—

Dear Sir,—I have used your Vegetine for nervous headache, and also for rheumatism, and have found entire relief from both, and take great pleasure in recommending it to all who may be likewise afflicted.

FRED. A. GOOD, 108 Mill St., Cinn.

VEGETINE has restored thousands to health who had been long and painful sufferers.

VEGETINE.

DRUGGISTS' TESTIMONY

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—We have been selling your remedy, the Vegetine, for about three years, and take pleasure in recommending it to our customers, and in no instance where a blood purifier would reach the case, has it ever failed to effect a cure, to our knowledge. It certainly is the ne plus ultra of renovators.

Respectfully, E. M. SHEPHERD & CO., Druggists, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Is acknowledged by all classes of people to be the best and most reliable blood purifier in the world.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE FLORIDA MUDDLE

REPEAL OF THE BANKRUPT LAW.

Political Rumors.

WASHINGTON, April 25.

Senator Stanley Matthews says that whatever may be the development of frauds in Florida at the time of the last Presidential election, there is no evidence that President Hayes or any of his friends are in any way implicated in them. On the contrary, those who are said to have connived at the frauds, and those who profess to have unearthed them, are hostile to the present administration.

THE SENATORS' VISIT TO BOSTON.

The Senate, by a vote of 21 against 19, refused to adjourn over from this afternoon to Monday morning. Senators Gordon, Bailey, Morgan and Jones, and perhaps Senators Lamar and Ransom, will nevertheless leave tomorrow for Boston by the New England afternoon train, accompanied by a number of Representatives. Hon. Leopold Morse will escort the party to Boston, where they will be the guests of the Commercial Club at the Hotel Brunswick.

THE REPEAL OF THE BANKRUPT LAW.

The House proceeded with the consideration of the bill to repeal the bankrupt law. The Judiciary Committee proposed a substitute for the Senate bill, of which the following is a synopsis: First, that the existing act to be repealed; second, this act shall have effect upon the pending suits or subsequent proceedings for discharge; third, this act shall take effect upon its passage as to involuntary suit, and on Jan. 1, 1879, as to voluntary applications. Petitions filed before Jan. 1, 1879, shall be adjudicated under the existing law. It is evident that the bill will have to be returned to the Senate, as the House will be pretty certain to make at least some verbal amendments.

PROPOSED SUSPENSION OF THE SINKING FUND.

The Ways and Means Committee this morning commenced the consideration of a proposition to suspend the Sinking Fund and agreed to take a final vote on Tuesday next.

THE BONANZA KINGS SUCCUMB.

Advices at the Bureau of the Director of the Mint are that the Bonanza kings have come to terms and have so reduced their prices as to enable the Government to purchase silver for coinage purposes in this country. After the Silver law was enacted these Bonanza kings seem to have formed a combination to raise the price, the result of which was that the Government has bought all of its bullion hitherto from the London market through German agents in New York. The Treasury has decided to accept the London market rate for silver as its standard of price, allowing nothing for commissions or transportation.

AN EXHAUSTED POLITICAL SENSATION.

The publication of the text of LeLin's confession has fallen flat in political circles, here, and the efforts to get up an excitement over it have utterly failed. Montgomery Blair is greatly disappointed at the

and then charges them with want of party loyalty and backbone. The text of the document disappoints many persons who anticipated that it would show conclusively that the electoral vote was given to Hayes in pursuance of a corrupt bargain.

FROM NEW YORK.

SALE OF A MAGNIFICENT ESTATE.

NEW YORK, April 25.

The famous Ben Halliday estate in Westchester county was sold by auction yesterday, including 714 acres of highly cultivated land, the castle, the chapel and other buildings, etc. A. Belmont bought it for $1000, assuming debts of $213,000.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM ORTON.

The funeral of Wm. Orton was largely attended. Several editors of the New York State papers, including John M. Francis of Troy and others, were present.

THE EUROPEAN CONTEST.

THE MARMORAN COAST FORTIFIED.

English Belief in the Failure of Mediation.

LONDON, April 25.

A growing belief in the failure of mediation in the Eastern troubles continues to depress the stock markets. There has been a general fall in prices. Russian securities are down 1 per cent.

THE MARMORAN COAST FORTIFIED.

At Stefeno, as well as on other exposed points of the coast, strand batteries are erected so as to frustrate any attempt to land. According to Russian accounts seven hundred guns are already in a position along the coast.

RUSSIA'S ULTIMATUM TO ROUMANIA.

LONDON, April 15.

A despatch from Bucharest says the Czar has sent his ultimatum to Roumania. The reported failure of German mediation is unconfirmed.

The Mussulman revolt in Bulgaria is rapidly spreading.

A despatch from Constantinople says the city is greatly agitated and an insurrection, in sympathy with the Mussulman outbreak in Roumania, is apprehended.

LONDON, April 25—4 P. M.

The growing belief in the failure of the mediation in the Eastern troubles continues to depress the stock markets. There has been a general fall in prices. Russian securities are down one per centum.

Miscellaneous.

LONDON, April 25.

Advices received from India state serious tax riots have occurred at Surat.

The Master Cotton Spinners' Association have issued a manifesto in which they explain and defend their position in regard to reducing wages of weavers, winders and warpers.

ROME, April 25.

The Pope has issued an Encyclical. Its tone is very high.

THE STORM IN THE WEST.

Extensive Destruction of Property in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

CINCINNATI, April 25.

The wind and rain storm of Tuesday night and yesterday through Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio and in the neighborhood of Wheeling, W. Va., did considerable mischief. The fruit suffered to some extent and two or three lives are reported lost. The storm was not felt in Southern Ohio.

A Somerset (Ky.) despatch says the storm in that region has never been equalled for fury and persistence. The wind unroofed or demolished dwellings, stores and other buildings. Chimneys, fences and trees were destroyed and more or less damage done to the property of almost the entire population. In one place a house half a mile from town, occupied by colored persons, was blown flat to the ground. The property of the farmers is very generally injured. One half an acre of land in one place forty-four trees were uprooted. Some persons were forced to flee to the cliffs for protection. Advices from Wayne County and other parts of Kentucky are of the same general tenor.

At Toledo, O., several buildings were seriously damaged. At Monroe, O., a brick block was unroofed and a part of the walls thrown down, crushing a small house occupied as a confectionery. At Salem, O., the upper part of McNabb's dwelling was blown over upon Perry's foundry, crushing the roof and injuring two workmen. Quite a number of other buildings were unroofed. At Kensington, O., a brick schoolhouse was demolished, injuring nearly all the children, some of them quite seriously.

In this city and neighborhood signs, trees, fences, etc., were blown down. Thomas Webb, a hod-carrier, was badly injured by flying bricks from an unfinished building. The rain fell in torrents, and in the northern part of the city there was a fall of hailstones of small size.

Gortschakoff Seriously Ill.

LONDON, April 25.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says Prince Gortschakoff's condition is considered critical. He is suffering from gout and apprehensions are felt that it will attack the stomach. His physicians are in constant attendance.

DESTRUCTIVE STORMS OUT WEST.

The storms at the West the past few days have covered a great extent of territory and destroyed much property. They have extended south to Texas, too, and at Fort Concho great damage was done to government property, and 10 soldiers were severely injured. At Memphis, Tenn., a $25,000 bridge has been swept away, and it is feared that the planting interests in the vicinity have suffered. The storm extended over nearly all the country between the Mississippi river and Rocky mountains. The heaviest rain-fall, however, was at St. Louis, Memphis, Indianapolis and Fort Gibson, Indian territory. The fall of water at St. Louis between 10 o'clock Monday night and 4 yesterday morning was about 4 inches. It is pronounced the heaviest storm ever known at St. Louis. The loss of property will amount to many thousands of dollars there. A thousand feet of the Indianapolis and St. Louis railroad between Bethalto and Alton Junction and a quarter of a mile of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy near Alton Junction have been swept away. Nine houses at Pomeroy, Ill., have been blown down, and three men killed and 15 badly hurt.

A pauper, who had for thirty years been an inmate of the Preston Workhouse, took his discharge a few days ago, and is now living on the rents of some cottages he purchased with money saved while he was a pauper. The money was principally the accumulation of gratuities presented to him as the workhouse messenger.

THE MOFFET BELL-PUNCH.

The Virginia liquor-sellers are fast tiring of their bell-punch toy, if we may believe the Richmond correspondent of the New York Herald. They punched merrily enough at first, for the novelty of the thing and to amuse their customers, but since it has become apparent how easily the register may be evaded they have only used it just enough for pretense sake. If the little Moffet machine were conscientiously manipulated, it should yield a revenue to the state for the year of $3,300,000. The advocates of the contrivance confidently expected a million at least, but the present indications are that the state will do well if it gets the $300,000 minus the three millions it should obtain. There are about 5000 registers now in use, but the returns thus far are so incomplete that it is impossible to estimate the average income for each register. In Richmond it is $9.50 per month, in Alexandria $5 and in Danville $18, and the variations generally are very wide. The law seems to work unfavorably to the interests of the saloon people, but has greatly increased the business of the store keepers. Tipplers economically bent go to the stores and buy their favorite brands by the demijohn full, thus saving the tax on every drink exacted at the bars.

METEORS AND "SHOOTING STARS."

We have all, doubtless, at some time or other, admired the graceful curve described on the serene sky of an autumnal night by one of those meteors that flash into existence for a moment and then are gone, and which are commonly known as a "shooting star." These bodies are in reality small fragments of matter—"mere cosmical dust," to use Humboldt's expression—coming to us from outer space—a velocity which has been variously estimated, but which would probably suffice to carry one of these bodies from London to Brighton (fifty miles) in three or four seconds. Of course this wonderfully high rate of speed, in comparison with which a cannon-ball, even at the commencement of its flight, can scarcely be said to crawl, is checked as soon as, yielding to the attraction of our earth, they enter the dense medium of our atmosphere. As the match is kindled by friction on the box, as the iron horse-shoe strikes fire from the stones of our streets, so, in this case as in every other, is arrested motion converted into heat, and into heat so intense that these bodies become incandescent, and are in most cases entirely burnt and dissipated before they reach the earth. Occasionally, indeed, one larger than the rest does fall to the ground; but so rarely is this the case that any possible danger arising from such a cause is scarcely to be deemed worthy of a moment's consideration. When we come to consider, however, that at certain seasons of the year many thousands of these bodies flash through some portion of the atmosphere every twenty-four hours, it will be seen that they would constitute no trifling source of danger; and the inhabitants of this lower world would be exposed to a bombardment from missels, the smallest of which, on account of its prodigious impetus, would be dangerous, but that the air—the invisible embient air of whose existence we are scarcely sensible—shields us from their impact as effectually as a wall of steel. The air extends to a height that has been variously estimated, but which is probably about forty-five or fifty miles above the surface of the earth. At a greater altitude than this it must be a very rare medium, indeed, if it exists at all. Organic life may be considered to cease at a distance of about three miles above the sea-level. It is true the condor is sometimes beheld soaring above the Andes at a greater height than this, and aeronauts have accomplished still loftier flights; but it is very certain that life cannot be maintained at a much greater elevation than the one specified.

Unless Congress interferes with the secretary of the treasury he will bring the country safely to specie resumption in the course of a few months. But many of the democratic leaders of the House are determined to break him down if possible, and Butler and Kelley are with them. There is now an attempt to show that the secretary has been favoring "the syndicate" in his sale of bonds, but there isn't a word of truth in it. The current sales of the 4 per cent bonds are not sufficient to answer the purpose, and no large sale could be made without allowing a margin of profit. Just now Mr. Sherman is quite popular with the country, and that fact angers the inflationists, and their purpose now is to snatch his popularity from him and to return as many "greenbackers" as possible to the next House. But it looks now as if nothing could overthrow the plans of the secretary, and when once resumption is accomplished it will be hard to go back to Butler's irredeemable rag-money.—[Cor. Springfield Republican.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

ALTERNATELY SHAKEN AND SCORCHED

By the paroxysms of chills and fever, the wretched sufferer of whom quinine has been prescribed essays in vain to exterminate the dreadful disease with that hurtful palliative, which at best only mitigates the violence of the fits, and eventually proves highly injurious to the system. In order to effect a thorough cure of malarial fever, whether intermittent or remittent, or to render the system impregnable to its attacks, Hostetters Stomach Bitters should be used daily. That this medicine is a searching eradicant of diseases generated by miasma, and a reliable safeguard against them, is a fact so widely recognized in this and other countries that to adduce evidence in support of it is unnecessary; but were either essential or desirable to do so, it may well be supposed that from the testimony corroborative of its claims; which has been accumulating during the last twenty-five years and other sufficient proofs might be gathered to convince the most inveterate skeptic. ap24-1w-n&j

TEN YEARS EXPERIENCE

—IN THE—

ROSS SYSTEM OF CULTIVATION.

With the Ross Implements, has never failed to produce astonishing results in the cultivation of all Hoed crops, when rightly understood and directions strictly followed, either flat or hill culture, by which the crops are greatly increased, weeds thoroughly exterminated, saving all the hand labor of planting and hoeing, doing the work much better, producing larger crops in wet seasons, and carries them through a dry one three or four times as long as hand culture, which adds greatly to the crops maturing and lessens the expense of production materially. The most thorough pulverizer in use for mixing soil, manures and fertilizers together, for putting in wheat, oats or rye broadcast, and increasing the crops of grain, also grass for several years, by giving such pulverizing qualities and thorough mixture of soil and fertilizers. Equally good for corn, potatoes, tobacco and root crops, peas and beans, on all soils, whether sand, loam or clay. A stiff clay sod made as old land by using the cultivator before planting, at half the expense of the common harrow. The expense of planting and hoeing an acre through the season varies from $1.50 to $2.50, according to speed of horse, man to operate, and land to work on.

O. H. Hayes, of Portsmouth, N. H., writes me that he hoed 20 acres of corn and potatoes in 1875, at the expense of $1.03 per acre, and better than men could do it with hand hoes. George H. Grace, of Ulysses, Butler County, Nebraska, writes me his corn was full 15 bushels of shelled corn more per acre where he used my machines and followed my system, than where he did not, no manure or fertilizers being used.

Rev. Dr. I. T. Tickenor, President of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, Auburn, Ala., after using, bought 8 machines, and writes us that "the Horse Cultivator and Hoe will revolutionize the cultivation of cotton in the whole cotton growing section." "Book me for another pair of your Horse Hoes next spring. My superintendent says he cannot get along without them."

D. P. Storrs, of Montgomery, Ala., writes, "There is nothing equals them for corn and cotton."

J. W. Sanborn, Superintendent of Agricultural College farm, at Hanover, N. H., after using one season, writes, "They are all that can be desired for hoeing corn and potatoes."

A. Towe, Jonesville, Vt., after using a full set 8 years, writes that "They pay for themselves every year. Could not do without the Ross system and implements."

A. J. Brown, of Vernon, Vt., has eight acres of corn estimated to yield 75 bushels per acre. Planted and hoed through the season after the Ross system, for $6.87; indispensable with me."

Lorenzo Loel and F. A. Brown of Vernon, Vt., have planted and hoed about 50 acres of corn the past season, after the Ross system and implements, without the use of the hand hoe. Having used them 5 or 6 years each, we find nothing equals them for saving labor and doing the work.

L. H. Ross, of South Deerfield, Mass., planted 30 acres of corn, and hoed it three time, at an expense of 20 days work for man, at $13 per month, and 15 days work for horse with the Ross implements. No hand hoeing.

Benjamin P. Ware, of Marblehead, President of the Essex Co. Agricultural Society, writes in his report for 1877, that he planted his corn with the Ross & Co.'s planters, and cultivated wholly with his cultivators, without any hand labor. "And this System left the crop clean of weeds and reduced the cost of cultivation very materially.

W. H. Flint, of Monson, Mass., writes in his report to the Scientific Farmer of his experiments of manures and fertilizers in 1877, that the work of planting and hoeing both corn and potatoes, was done after the Ross system and implements, without the use of the Hand hoe, only at the end of the rows, which left the crops clean of weeds.

E. O. Emmons, of Taftsville, Vt., writes his experiments in raising corn by hand labor, and also after the Ross system in 1877. The rows were 35 rods long, all manured, except the last 3 rows, was fertilized in the hill when planted. No. 1. 3 rows were planted and hoed through the season with hand hoes; took six hours to plant them. Produced 29¾ baskets of ears. No. 2. 3 rows were planted and hoed after the Ross system, took man and horse 20 minutes to plant them, and hoed equally as quick with the Ross implements, and produced 36 baskets of ears. No. 3. 3 rows were planted and hoed after the Ross system, and fertilized in the drill; took the same time to plant and hoe them that it did No. 2, and produced 43¾ baskets of ears.

By the above experiment, it is plain to be seen the amount of labor which can be saved and the increase of crop to be gained, by the Ross system of cultivation, over the old method of digging with hand hoes, and producing aching backs, and my crops were free from weeds.

Send 25 cents for the Ross system of cultivation.

☞ We do not claim any fertilizing qualities in our machines, but do claim that the highest state of cultivation produces the largest crops, and that the Ross system and implements, strictly followed, produces the highest state of cultivation known. All machines warranted, and representations guaranteed if the system is strictly followed. Agents wanted who are practical farmers—NO OTHERS.

EVERY NEWPORTER ABROAD SHOULD READ THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies, and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal. Terms $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. No gratuitous advertising for any object. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1878.

THE DAY.

The Newport Journal is published this evening.

The Odd Fellows have a grand celebration at Woonsocket and Providence today.

Mr. Joshua Montgomery Sears has given $10,000 to the Boston Art Museum.

It is thought the President will veto the River and Harbor bill when he gets a chance. We hope so.

Latest advices from Fall River state that there are no new developments. It is plain that there have been enough already.

Instead of bouquets the crowd threw eggs upon the stage in the Providence Opera House last evening. It was a disgraceful affair.

Affairs do not look quite so lovely in Europe today. Neither England nor Russia likes to give in, and one or the other must do so or both must fight.

Eggs are selling at ten cents a dozen in Connecticut, and milk at four cents a quart. Thus the poor folks rejoice—except those who have eggs and milk to sell.

Geo. L. Smith has been nominated by President Hayes as Collector of New Orleans. He is said to be a decent man and is likely to be set aside in the Senate as not suited to that locality.

The strike among the mill operatives in Warren has become general. It continues to be engineered by the Fall River agitators whose influence on the operatives is as disastrous as that of Chace and Hathaway on the stockholders.

The strike of the English cotton spinners continues, with but slight prospects of reaching a settlement. At Bumby and Blackburn nearly all the operatives are idle and extremely boisterous. Apprehensions of a general lock-out at Preston are entertained.

The Coaching Club make their trip from New York to Philadelphia tomorrow, and will dine at the house of Mr. Fairman Rogers in the latter city. The trip is to be made by coach, starting at half past six A. M. The party will remain in that city over Sunday, and return on Monday.

A goodly number of the disappointed colored colonists of Liberia are settling down in a colony on a South Carolina plantation, to await quietly there the return of the Azor. By that time they may not be quite so eager to expatriate themselves. Disappointment in being left behind was very great, but probably not half so great as it would have been had they gone.

The Democrats in Washington have cut and planned a first-class plank for the Republican fall-campaign platform. It is called the income tax.—[N. Y. Herald.

The New York and other Eastern newspapers are constantly making mistakes like above. The revival of the income tax will, undoubtedly, be unpopular with the wealthy classes who have the tax to pay, but with the masses who vote it will be quite the reverse. The Democrats if they were operating for political effect can do no better than to adopt such a measure. It is well for Eastern men to learn that this section no longer controls the country. The West and the South hold the sceptre and the men of those sections act on their own judgment without much regard to the opinions of New York and Boston. In all sectional contests we may as well prepare to surrender. As in the case of the silver bill we shall find ourselves powerless in a contest of this kind.

The Eastern complications are still serious. There are some things to be settled that even an European congress cannot control. For instance the end which Russia proposed when setting out on the war with the Turk is apparently as far distant as ever. So far from bringing peace and liberty to the Christian population of the Turkish provinces, the sufferings of these people are now quite as great as when the standard of the Cross was raised in their defence. Bulgaria, where occurred the outrages whose horrors were considered a sufficient provocation for a continental war, presents a spectacle of anarchy and rapine as terrible as that which prevailed before the Russian armies occupied its territory. The Mussulman insurrection which has broken out gathers strength in such degrees as to threaten even the supremacy of the conquerors; and while all Europe is preparing to fight over the terms of peace, it seems that the peace for which Russia went to war is not at all different from the brigandage which formerly prevailed.

THE UNITED STATES SENATE, PAST AND PRESENT.

We fully agree with the Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican in his estimate of the men now in the United States Senate as compared with their predecessors. Some people, indeed most men are inclined to magnify the past at the expense of the present, and with not a few, dead men are always great men, while the living are of little or no account. The correspondent in question says:

For one, I should be very sorry to see Mr. Conkling leave the Senate, for he is certainly a great man, and we have so few of them in public life that it would be a calamity for him to retire to private life. Conkling, Blaine, Edmunds, Thurman, Judge Davis, Lamar, Ben Hill, and Bayard are Senators who should be long continued in Congress. I have no patience with the nasty narrowness that cannot abide the presence of an able political opponent in Congress—or of a prominent public man who has failings. Even Ben Butler adds much to the interest of the House proceedings, and though he is as wrong-headed as he easily can be, yet I doubt if he does any harm.

The Graphic quotes the above from the Republican and says in turn:

We have repeatedly remarked that in our opinion the present Federal Senate contains more men of ability and true statesmanship than have sat in any previous Congress. Why should it not be so? In all other branches of intellectual and practical progress we advance; why should our statesmen retrograde? People have been too apt to overrate the ability of past Senates and to underestimate the real merit of the present Upper House. The list given by the Republican might be extended. There should however, be devised additional methods of increasing the dignity of the Senate. It has been suggested that our ex-Presidents should become Senators for life; and there is some wisdom in the idea. In time, also, the choice of a certain portion of the Senate might be remitted to the people of the entire country, voting en masse. In both Houses, as now constituted, there is too much deference to locality. We should have Senators, and perhaps Representatives, elected "at large," and representing the nation rather than districts or States. The retirement of men like Conkling, Bayard, Hill, Jones, Lamar, Thurman, Davis and Hoar would be a public misfortune. Who does not feel that Horatio Seymour would be a better representative of the Democratic party of this state than Senator Kernan?—Let us do justice to our statesmen.

THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

The Advertiser of Friday morning says, a very dull money market still prevails, partly in consequence of a light business movement and partly because of the good financial condition of the representative merchants and dealers in some branches of trade, which relieves them from the necessity of borrowing to any great extent. There is an ample supply of money, but the trouble is to find employment which is at once safe and profitable. But of late, if the former quality is assured, the banks are generally willing to assent to anything reasonable in the way of rates. There is considerable doing at as low as 4 per cent. the remainder ranging at from 5 to 6 per cent. Call loans generally ruled at 4 per cent. on satisfactory collaterals. At the clearing house today the rate for balances between banks continued easy at 2 per cent. New York funds remain about even. The gross exchanges yesterday were $6,439,862, and the balances $781,268.

FALL RIVER NOTES.

It has been a source of wonder to many how Hathaway could issue notes without the knowledge of his clerk. The way he did it was this: He would make a note for, say, $5000, and meeting some of the directors on the street, get them to put their names on it, and then negotiate it, only keeping a memorandum of it for his own private use. Such notes as he wished to have recorded he gave an account of. He acknowledges, it is said, that he has about $300,000 of Sagamore paper on the market of which no account has been given, and $300,000 of Border City paper of the same character, making $600,000 of indebtedness which does not appear on the books. It is said that, owing to the careless method of indorsing checks by the directors, it is more than likely that, after the signatures were obtained, Hathaway raised the notes from, say $50,000 to $250,000. But of course this is only speculation.

The stock of the bankrupt mills is held largely by mechanics and farmers, in sums ranging from a few hundred to two thousand dollars, Hathaway having been known by the people who subscribed.

The Boston Globe of last evening has the following, which we give for what it may be worth:

"The New Bedford banks were done in a very clever way," observed a Boston merchant to a Globe reporter this forenoon, "and I haven't seen a word of it mentioned in the papers, either," he added with a sly twinkle. "How was it?" asked the inquirer. "I will tell you. You remember that it was stated yesterday that the banks in New Bedford held as security 130,000 pieces of goods as collateral for money advanced. Well, that was true up to last Wednesday, but since then they have not had a dollar of security of any kind. On that day some Philadelphia printers and Providence and New Bedford speculators happened down in Fall River, and they scooped in the whole 130,000 pieces for three and a quarter (cash) per yard. That little matter will come out if there is even an investigation.

The illegal notes are scattered all over the country, and for some of them it is believed the mills will not be liable, because the notes, as they appear in some cases, have no indorsers, and there is no record of them on the books of the corporation. The liabilities of the mills will probably be nearly equal to the aggregate wealth of the directors, $1,500,000. From the various cities where his notes are held the banks have sent officers to Fall River who are quietly getting their bearings and making attachments. The banks of Fall River are probably involved, but the officers are reticent and dread the distrust of the people.

Gen. Hawley of the Hartford Courant has sailed from New York for Europe, to be absent about three months.

Jennie June says a fashionable bonnet can be had for a dollar and a half. And so it can. It is the from six to twenty dollars worth of trimming that strikes the pocket-book in a sore spot.—[Norristown Herald.

—A well known business man of this city narrowly escaped the loss of a considerable sum of money by the recent defalcations in Fall River. He had gone there to attend an administrators sale, where some mill stock was to be disposed of, had bid in the stock and was ready with the money, when a dispute arose as to whether he or the administrator should pay the cost of new certificates. Each held that the other should do so and as neither would yield the point the Newport man refused to take the stock and came home without it. A few days later, out came the news of defalcation in the mills where he was on the point of purchasing, and, as may be imagined, he was well pleased that the dispute had ended as it did.

The quartermaster reports that the company is out of debt, and it is now hoped that the members will take a renewed interest in the welfare of the organization.

THE LITTLE INTEREST OF AMERICANS IN POLITICS.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S ACCOUNT.

Though there are very few persons who seriously desire to see a monarchical form of government established in America, and fewer still who expect it, a distrust of popular institutions is far from uncommon among the wealthier and educated classes. In America as in England, there are many who believe that a country will never be well governed unless a preponderating power is conferred by the Constitution on wealth and culture. Unhappily most of the persons, in America as in England, who hold this theory refuse to exert the authority which is actually within their reach. They would be perfectly happy if the political affairs of the country could be transacted quietly in carpeted rooms lit with wax candles, and with walls covered with "engravings after the best masters," or with water-color sketches from Italy and Spain and Algiers; but if they must go into heated halls lit with flaring gas, and defend their opinions in the presence of a crowd of noisy electors, their patriotism fails them. There is a still larger class—a class including thousands and tens of thousands of the best men in the country—who think it possible to enjoy the fruits of good government without working for them.

To an Englishman, especially to a Birmingham Radical, the little interest which many Americans seem to feel in politics is one of the worst and most ominous characteristics of American life. They go to the poll when there is an election, but at other times they seem to feel no responsibility for the maintenance and diffusion of their political convictions. The reasons for this neglect of political duty are not far to seek. The action of government does not affect the life and interests of the great masses of the people so directly and so powerfully as among ourselves. The material prosperity of the country has been so great that there has been no reason for engaging in political agitation in order to resist a policy which was regarded as the cause of national distress. Of late years the most violent contests in America have turned upon persons rather than upon principles. "The American people," some one has said, "care very little about politics, but a great deal about politicians."—[Rev. R. W. Dale.

THE TERRITORY OF ALASKA.

Ever since the purchase of this territory by the United States government there has been a dispute as to its value to our nation and the wisdom of its annexation. A recent writer says that the paid agents of a great corporation that desire exclusive control of the Indian trade have misrepresented the soil, climate and resources of the country and succeeded in making the people believe that it is utterly inhospitable and barren. This he says is false to the last degree. In describing the country he says:—

From the time one leaves the northernmost point of British Columbia, he travels nearly all the way in a channel resembling a chain of lakes, protected from the tempests of the ocean by a series of mountainous, rocky and heavily-timbered islands, varying in length from a few yards to a hundred miles. The thousand islands of the St. Lawrence and the places where "burning Sappho loved and sung," are like a speck on the horizon when compared to the myriads of fir-covered rocks in this northern clime. These islands are almost solid rock, even the largest of them, and are covered with forests of trees that only grow to an inferior size, partly on account of their density, and partly because of their having no other soil than the bare rocks and wet, marshy moors to fasten to. They begin where salt water bathes their roots and run up to the snow-line of the mountain tops. The shore along the entire distance of Alaska is rocky, sand being only found in the rivers, and leaving out Wrangel and Sitka, no habitations are to be seen, except a few shanties erected here and there by the Indians. To the right of these greenwood islands, capped with snow, is the main land, very much the same in every feature as the storm barriers on the left, except that it has running down its entire length a chain of immense mountains, hoary-headed, like the distant tents of Titan giants. Beautiful and novel as is the scenery of this trip, there is a great sameness in it, the description of one portion of which will answer for all. Passing through Granville Channel, our vessel's prow broke upon a line of deep, clear, blue lakes of salt water, as tranquil as Killarney and as beautiful as Yosemite. The bright sun fell upon the snowy peaks of which run for 4000 feet straight up from the water's edge on both sides, bathing their frigid sides in a flood of warmth, and reflecting their splendor down into the placid waters below. The occasional splash of a porpoise spangling in the sunlight, and the startled water fowl flapping over the bosom of the channel, were all that disturbed its glassy appearance, while the only sounds were the cataracts foaming down the mountain sides, the cawing of crows in the near woods, and the water breaking from our ship's rudder.

Here has Nature thrown together the picturesque and sublime in one grand panorama, unsurpassed in magnificence by the brilliant-lined canyons of the Yellowstone, or in simple beauty by the lochs of Scotland. The scenery in the immediate vicinity of Sitka varies somewhat from that already described, being bolder and more rugged as it presents its front to the rude blasts of the ocean, protected only by some very small islands. The mountains run more to peaks, showing their volcanic structure, of which the verable Mount Edgecumbe, with its crater filled with snow, is the principal.

QUEER TALK.—In the Newport News, Mr. Isaac Lawrence comes to the front again and talks rum. After referring to the Governor disrespectfully, he says, "It is also a remarkable fact that the only election riot which ever took place in Newport was the work of the friends of the prohibition Mayor at his election." This is somewhat mixed. Mr. S. P. Slocum was supported by the temperance people, and was nominated by some of them. Mr. Bedlow was nominated by the Republicans only. Mr. Lawrence voted for Slocum, the temperance nominee.—[Cor. Prov. Journal.

William H. Vanderbilt of New York has donated $1000 for the enlargement of the library of the Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., having previously given $1000 to be expended for Biblical books in the same institution. The grateful trustees have set off an alcove in the library, suitably inscribed, to hold exclusively the books purchased with these generous donations.

A rowdy insulted a beautiful young lady in Philadelphia, yesterday, and she made him acquainted with the end of her parasol so effectually that he was glad to beat a retreat. This furnishes another evidence of the efficiency of the bello-punch.

LOSSES OF THE BANKS.

In times of frequent failures and suspensions the banks as well as capitalists and lenders generally are subjected to the chance of considerable losses. The legitimate risks of business, to say nothing of the occasional outcropping of fraud and dishonesty, lead them to expect bad debts in spite of all their care and watchfulness. But there is good reason to suspect that the community get a very exaggerated idea of their losses, and that their reputation as carefully managed and conservative institutions, if not their reputation for financial strength, suffers unduly and unnecessarily in consequence. A failure occurs and straightway the public is informed that the banks of A. B. and C. hold a considerable amount of the paper; that one designated bank has $10,000, and another $20,000, and so on. This may all be true as a matter of fact, although we are inclined to think that it is dangerous to accept it as truth on the mere basis of a report which does not come from headquarters. But the mischief frequently lies more in the effect of the report than in the fact, if it be one, that the bank referred to holds some of the failed paper. For the public generally jumps to the conclusion that failed paper represents nothing! and that if a bank holds $50,000 of it it has actually lost that amount. Consequently that bank is, in the general estimation, worth $50,000 less than it was before the report was seen. But the fact should be more generally recognized that a bank very rarely makes a total loss on any investment of the kind. In some cases, when reports are investigated, it proves that the paper held by the bank is in its hands simply for collection, when of course it loses nothing. In other cases, although a bank may hold the amount reported, it may have a good indorser, or hold collateral security enough to make the debt perfectly safe. But of these chances the public take no note. It is only known that the bank holds so much of Balloon's paper, and that he has "gone up." From that the inference is drawn that the bank is "stuck" for the whole amount due. But beyond the strength of indorsements there are also other considerations to be weighed, which are not dreampt of in the general philosophy. Should it appear that indorsers are not responsible the banks have still other chances for at least a partial recovery. Even in these degenerate days bankrupts have been known to pay 100 cents on a dollar. Sometimes 75 cents is paid, although more frequently the rate may be 50 cents or 25. But if, in some cases, it gets down as low as 10 cents on a dollar, even that is a percentage worth saving, while the average of all settlements is far less disastrous to the banks than is generally supposed. However, in regard to such matters the banks suffer in common with the rest of the community. In times of business disaster or depression their weak places are sought for and exposed, and the unimpaired sources of their strength are forgotten; but when times change the public gaze is fastened upon the profitable business they are doing, no one stopping to inquire whether they are making any losses in the process or not. This tendency of the public mind gives occasion for the remark that is frequently made, that when the banks are prosperous their stocks sells too high, and that when business becomes poor the decline is out of all proportion, and they sell altogether too low.—[Boston Advertiser.

"UNCLE DANIEL DREW" WATCHING THE TAPE

Among the noted citizens who live at the Sturtevant House, enjoying the genial hospitality of the Lelands, is "Uncle" Daniel Drew, a hale old gentleman somewhere about eighty years of age. M. Drew, as all know, was once a great operator in "the street," and his movements were as important as ever were those of Jay Cooke or Fisk or Gould. Though fully retired from business, Mr. Drew is always the centre of a group of brokers and bankers, and his careful but usually very brief utterances are accepted as words of wisdom. As soon as he has finished breakfast the veteran lights a cigar and seats himself beside the stock telegraph, where a boy reads to him the quotations as they come. The old gentleman ponders over them with all the interest of earlier days, and occasionally utters a word of comment. The slightest error he at once detects; as for instance, the boy reads "three-eighths" instead of "five eighths," when Uncle Daniel snaps out "what?" and the abashed boys reads again and correctly. When some speculative list is going up and down, the veteran seems to be on 'Change again, rapidly puffs his cigar, and hitches about in his chair as the figures are called out.

> Fired with sound, the King grew vain;
> Fought all his battles o'er again,
> And thrice he routed all his foes,
> And thrice he slew the slain.

Mr. Drew's unceasing interest in the market is noticed by everybody, as an instance of the ruling passion strong in age.—[N. Y. Mail.

A Vermont clergyman, who used to live in Louisiana, tells this story of a former parishioner of his, the somewhat notorious J. Madison Wells: One day Wells said to him, "Mr.——, I should come and hear you preach oftener, but every time I come you preach a personal sermon, and I do not like to be attacked in that way every time I attend church." To this the reply was: "Major, you are so seldom at church that I could not know when to prepare a sermon personal to your case, and that relieves me from your accusation. But the truth is, Major, it would be hard for a clergyman to preach a sermon against any sin forbidden in the decalogue, and not make it a sermon that you might think was intended for you personally."

A singular instance of the ingenuity of birds was noticed at Detroit the other day, where two robins were seen to be toiling away at a small toy basket, which had been left in a dooryard. Evidently thinking it would make a palatial nest the birds were pulling and dragging it along over the grass, but were unable to get hold of it in such a way as to fly off with it. They accordingly left it, but soon returned with a string about eight feet long, which they drew through the basket and, each taking one end in its bill, flew briskly away with the basket hanging on its swing between them.

Complaint was recently made at the Post Office Department in Washington that letters received from Persia had been perforated with some sharp instrument. Inquiry was at once made of the Persian postal authorities as to the cause, and a reply received that the perforations complained of were made during the fumigation at the Russian frontier, to which all letters from Persia were subjected, owing to the existence of the plague in that country.

Dr. Redfield says that the District of Columbia is made to appear as an incessant beggar at the door of Congress, and thinks there will never be a settlement of the equities between the inhabitants of the District and the rest of the United States until the District has a permanent local Government and taxation adjusted. Its debt is now $25,000,000, or over 25 per cent. of the total valuation of property. A bill is now before Congress, however, dividing all District expenses equally between the residents and the General Government, which will probably become a law, and the usual running to Congress for large and small sums will thereafter cease.

NO CHANCE FOR TILDEN.

The Charleston News (Dem.) in an article on the next Democratic Presidential nomination says:

"The Southern States control the Democratic nomination for President. Without the South the Democratic party have no electoral votes worth talking about. The southern Democrats do not desire that a southerner be nominated for President. Their veto is final when they say that they will not agree to the nomination of a particular candidate. There are some Democrats with regard to whom the South intends to exercise its right of exclusion, and candor requires us to say that the first of these, a candidate who will not be accepted on any terms, is Mr. Samuel J. Tilden."

An extraordinary speech was made at Dudley, England, the other night by a member of Parliament, who in the course of his remarks uttered the following, which was much relished by his hearers: "If the Duke of Edinburgh were to shoot his father-in-law now he would be handed down to posterity in iniquity; but if war were declared and the Duke shot the Czar, he would receive a vote of thanks, proposed by Lord Beaconfield, seconded by Lord Granville and supported by the Archbishop of Canterbury."

Mr. Dix announces his lecture under the title, "Are the United States a Government?" True politics require that he should say, "Is the United State a Government?" From a mistake in grammar this business sprang the rebellion.—[Boston Transcript.

HOUSEKEEPERS and ladies generally will be interested in the card of "Hall's Carpet Sweeper" in our paper of today. It has so many prominent advantages that we hardly can mention them, and so refer to details in the card, only saying that the ladies of Boston have given this sweeper a very decided preference over all others after testing its workings. Its simplicity, noiselessness and durability commend it to all. feb22-1F

SONG OF THE GRASS.

Peep! peep! peep! peep!
Now I break my winter's sleep;
Now in silence win my way
Upward to the light of day.
Through the dead yet fragrant mats
Of the last year's tangled grass,
Up, by every random stone,
Up, by every tree o'erblown,
By the brushy fence's side,
Where young violets lurk and hide,
I am coming everywhere,
O'er the earth all brown and bare.

Greet me gladly, gratefully;
Summer's faithful herald I,
Kindly to my tender spears
Send, and kind attentive ears,
While I whisper sweet of flowers,
While I tell of summer showers,
Prophesy of golden grain,
And of loaded autumn wain,
Greet me gladly, for in me
Prophet true of good you see,
Coming, coming, everywhere,
Making all the brown earth fair,

—[Augusta Moore, in New York Evening Post.

SUNDRIES.

Evening prayers—Burglars.

The prudent wife is already beginning to lay the foundations for that Easter hat.—[Puck.

This is the season of the year when carpets and hand-organs are turned.

Mr. Nellie was recently married to a Miss Thorn. That's what you might call "a prickly pair."

Our ancestors, the monkeys, couldn't have been so ignorant, after all they were all educated in the high branches.

The times are hard—everybody says so—but the wages of sin have not been cut down.—[Christian at Work.

"Belinda," said Clarissa, "why is a kiss like that sewing-machine of yours?" "O, I don't know. Don't bother me." "I'll tell you why. It's because it seems good."

Bob Ingersoll asked a preacher whether the fatted calf was male or female. "Female, of course," replied the preacher, "for I am now talking to the male."

"What, the use of all this sacrifice of life, this bloody butchery of Turk and Russian?" said a Philadelphia Quaker to a Cincinnati hog merchant; "pork isn't riz any, that I can see."

After a man has once run across the back yard, after dusk, and tried to cut the clothes line in two with his chin, he always has to explain to his horified wife that he got into the habit of swearing in the army.

Congressman Wood's new Tariff bill imposes a tax of thirty-five per cent custom on "matches of all kinds." Young persons about to enter the matrimonial state should remonstrate at once. The tax is onerous. What is needed is a tax of about ninety-five per centum on long engagements.—[Norristown Herald.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. J. A. & R. A. Reid, Providence, the first number of their new Rhode Island Railway Guide and Handy Reference Book. The intent of the publishers is to furnish our State with a convenient and accurate guide, containing the arrival and departure of trains at all stations in Rhode Island, the arrival and sailing time of all steamboats and steamships, arrival and departure of freight trains, express office time tables, closing and opening of mails, all street directories for the larger towns, census information, court calendar for the State, and many other matters of every-day use. The work bears the appearance of having been well and systematically arranged, and undoubtedly will be liberally patronized. The subscription price per year is 75 cents. The issues will be made once in three months, and this price will entitle subscribers to four numbers. The book will be sent to any address, postage prepaid, on receipt of the above price at the office of the publishers, 56 Weybosset street, Providence, R. I. Subscribers will also be furnished, free, with monthly changes of railways, if any are made.
